

EXHIBIT H

1 Thomas L. Cox, Jr.
2 State Bar 04964400
THE COX FIRM
3 4934 Tremont
Dallas, Texas 75214
4 (469) 531-3313
5 tcox009@yahoo.com

Attorney for Objectors

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
SAN JOSE DIVISION

10 | IN RE: APPLE IPHONE 4 PRODUCTS
11 | LIABILITY LITIGATION

Case No.: 5:10-MD-02188-RMW

¹³ THIS DOCUMENT RELATES TO

All Actions

OBJECTION TO PROPOSED SETTLEMENT, OBJECTION TO
ATTORNEYS' FEES REQUEST,
NOTICE OF INTENT TO APPEAR,
AND REQUEST TO SPEAK AT THE HEARING

TO THE HONORABLE RONALD M. WHYTE

19 COMES NOW, Frank Aldridge, John Davis, Jenny Dowdy, Larry Lavine, Paige
20 Nash, Katie Sibley, Warren Sibley and David Stevens (“Objectors”), and file these 21 Objections to the Proposed Settlement, Objections to Attorneys’ Fees Request, Notice of 22 Intent to Appear, and Request to Speak at the Hearing through counsel, and would show
23 as follows:

1. Objectors Are Class Members

(a) We are members of the Class

27 (b) We are the original owners of an iPhone4 and have or will file a valid
28 claim form.

1 2. Objection to Notice

2 The Notice given to class members is very bare bones and directs the class
3 member to the settlement website for further information. The Federal Judicial Center in 4 the Publication Judges' Class Action Notice and Claims Process Checklist and Plain
5 Language Guide 2010 asks:

6 7 Will key documents be available at a neutral website?

8 Class members should have access to information beyond the 9 notice. Besides the summary notice and detailed notice (following the FJC 10 examples at www.fjc.gov), it is reasonable to post the following
11 documents at a neutral administrator's website dedicated to the case: the 12 plaintiffs' complaint, the defendants' answer, your class-certification
13 decision (in the event of a class certified for trial), and the settlement agreement and claim form (in the event of a settlement). Other orders, such as your rulings on motions to dismiss or for summary judgment, should ordinarily be made available as well.

14 As of June 12, 2012, the only court documents available on the settlement website
15 are the Settlement Agreement and Preliminary Approval Order. In Mercury Interactive
16 Corp. Sec. Litig., 618 F.3d 988 (9th Cir. 2010), the court held that in a class action the fee
17 petition must be filed before the date to object to the settlement. The court should expand
18 Mercury to require that all relevant court documents be posted on the settlement website
19 prior to the deadline to object or seek exclusion.

20 21 3. Objection to Certification

22 The definition of the class is not adequate and does not comply with due process
23 or Rule 23. Rule 23 and due process require that the class definition be precise, objective
24 and presently ascertainable. MANUAL FOR COMPLEX LITIGATION 4th, p. 270. To determine
25 if an individual is a class member, a court must be able to do so by reference to the class
26 definition and without inquiry into any sort of fact-finding.
27
28

1 The class definition is improper for the reasons set out below. Because the class
2 definition here (1) does not provide a precise, objective and presently ascertainable way
3 to identify class members and (2) requires a “mini trial” to determine whether a particular
4 person is in the class, the class definition is not appropriate and the Court should not
5 certify the class.

6
7 The class here is defined as:

8 All United States residents who are or were the original owners of an
9 iPhone 4 as of February 17, 2012. The Settlement Class excludes Apple;
10 any entity in which Apple has a controlling interest; Apple’s directors,
11 officers, and employees; and Apple’s legal representatives, successors, and assigns.

12 Settlement Agreement p. 5.

13 There is no way to tell from Apple’s records who or who is not a class member 14 entitled to financial compensation because the claim form requires a class member must 15 have experienced antenna or reception issues with their 4 iPhone, completed the trouble
16 shooting steps, could not have returned their iPhone 4 without incurring any charges and 17 were unwilling to use a case or free bumper for their iPhone 4. Thus, class determination 18 is presently ascertainable, who may be receive compensation or benefit from the 19 settlement is not.

20 Cases under the Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA), 47 U.S.C. § 227
21 bear out the problem with the class definition here. The two seminal TCPA cases on the 22 class definition are Forman v. Data Transfer, Inc., 164 F.R.D. 400, 403 (E.D. Pa. 1995)
23 and Kenro, Inc. v. Fax Daily, Inc., 962 F.Supp. 1162 (S.D. Ind. 1997). Forman held:
24

1 Here, defining the purported class as "all residents and businesses who
2 have received unsolicited facsimile advertisements" requires addressing
3 the central issue of liability to be decided in the case. Determining a 4 membership in the class would essentially require a mini-hearing on the merits of each case.

4 Id. at 403 (emphasis by the court).

5 As the court emphasized, it was the inclusion of the factual finding requirement in 6 the definition as to whether the fax was unsolicited that made the definition improper. In 7 this case that same problem arises because the court would need to determine who meets
8 the test set out above. Similarly, the Kenro court held:

10 Because Kenro's class definition would require the court to conduct
11 individual inquiries with regard to each potential class member in order to 12 determine whether each potential class member had invited or given
13 permission for transmission of the challenged fax advertisements, Kenro
14 has failed to meet the requirements of Rule 23(a).
Kenro, 962 F.Supp. at 1169.

14 The same problem exists here: for any individual, the Court would be required to 15 conduct an individual factual inquiry to determine whether they had antenna trouble.
16

17 The fact that this is a settlement class does not provide for a lesser standard for the 18 class definition. Whether the class is a litigation or settlement class, the definition must 19 be precise, objective and presently ascertainable to comply with due process in giving fair
20 notice to potential class members as to whether they are covered by the judgment.
21 Settlement may eliminate problems with manageability, but it does not eliminate the due
22 process requirement for providing a valid definition of the class.
23

24 Because the class definition is deficient, the Court should not certify the 25 settlement class nor approve the settlement.
26
27
28

1 4. Objections to Intra-Class Conflicts Violating the U.S. Supreme Court's
2 Intra-Class Equity Requirements and Barring Settlement Approval

3 The United States Supreme Court requires "intraclass equity" in any settlement,
4 notwithstanding the class's common interest in "achieving a global settlement." Ortiz v.
5 Fibreboard Corp., 527 U.S. 815, 858, 863 (1999). The court's preliminary approval of 6 the settlement ignores this binding requirement.
7

8 This settlement unfairly and arbitrarily benefits some class members at the 9 expense of others without any justification that satisfies Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)'s
10 certification requirements. In particular, this settlement is unfair because it prejudices
11 some of the members of the class. The class is defined as all United States residents who 12 are the original owner of an iPhone4. Of the estimated 27 million member class, the class
13 members who have already taken advantage of Apple's Free Bumper program will 14 receive nothing. Class members must submit claim forms to receive these 15 reimbursements and the claims process is needlessly complicated and designed to 16 discourage the filing of a claim.
17
18

19 Objectors request the Court modify the proposed settlement to dispose of these 20 glaring and manifestly inequitable provisions by allowing class members who took 21 advantage of the Bumper Program to receive financial compensation. Additionally, the 22 tainted class should be bifurcated under new class representatives.
23
24

25 Though the clear inequity demonstrated above is ample reason to find the 26 settlement unfair and inequitable, the settlement also embodies failures of Rule 23(a)(3)– 27 (4)'s typicality and adequacy of representation requirements.
28

1 5. Subclasses Must Comply with Rule 23(a) Certification Requirements

2 Subclasses are appropriate where a class includes groups divergent in interest.
3 Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a); In re Pet Food Prods. Liab. Litig., 629 F.3d 333, 343 (3d Cir.
4 2010). Further, “when appropriate . . . (B) a class may be divided into subclasses and
5 each subclass treated as a class, and the provisions of this rule shall then be construed and
6 applied accordingly.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(4). These statutes and case law, taken
7 together, require all subclasses in a class action to comply with Rule 23(a) certification
8 requirements as though they were regular classes. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(5); In re Ins.
9 Brokerage Antitrust Litigation, 579 F.3d 241, 271 (3d Cir. 2009); Agostino v. Quest
10 Diagnostics Inc., 256 F.R.D. 437, 449 n.4 (D.N.J. 2009).

11 Purported fairness alone cannot substitute for meeting Rule 23’s certification
12 requirements. Certifying a class merely because it is fair is a clear error of law. Amchem
13 Prods., Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 622 (1997). Crucially, before allowing a case to go
14 forward as a class action a court must make all necessary legal and factual probes and 15 consider all relevant evidence and arguments presented by the parties to ensure all of 16 Rule 23(a)’s requirements are met. If they are not, the action cannot be certified as a 17 class action. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 131 S. Ct. 2541, 2551 (2011); In re
18 Hydrogen Peroxide Antitrust Litig., 552 F.3d 305, 307 (3d Cir. 2008); Szabo v.
19 Bridgeport Machs., Inc., 249 F.3d 672, 676 (7th Cir. 2001).

20 6. Is the Settlement Fair, Reasonable and Adequate for Class Members

21 While at first glance the settlement seems generous to class members, when it is 22 examined closer it appears because of the needlessly complex claims process very few 23 class members will go to the trouble to file a claim. The Court should look carefully at 24

1 the number of claims submitted during the Fairness Hearing as it is doubtful whether
2 50,000 class members will submit claims for the $15 payment.

3 In determining if a class action settlement is fair and reasonable the factors in a
4 court's fairness assessment will naturally vary from case to case, but courts generally 5 must weigh:

- 7 (1) the strength of the plaintiff's case;
- 8 (2) the risk, expense, complexity, and likely duration of further litigation;
- 9 (3) the risk of maintaining class action status throughout the trial;
- 10 (4) the amount offered in settlement;
- 11 (5) the extent of discovery completed and the stage of the proceedings;
- 12 (6) the experience and views of counsel;
- 13 (7) the presence of a governmental participant; and
- 14 (8) the reaction of the class members of the proposed settlement.

17 7. Class Counsel's Requested Attorney Fees are Unreasonable Because the 18 Value of the Settlement to the Class is Impermissibly Overstated

19 In their fee petition, class counsel makes no attempt to value the settlement, but 20 their fee petition has a clear sailing agreement from Apple. This failure allows class 21 counsel to ask for fees that will be more than the actual amount of financial payments to 22 the class. In reviewing a proposed settlement it is the role of the District Judge to protect
23 the class's interests, acting as a fiduciary for the class. *In re Rite Aid Corp Securities
24 Litigation*, 396 F.3d 294, 307 (3d Cir 2005). The actual value to the class warrants careful
25 scrutiny and additional information from the parties. Class counsel's fee petition are 26 naked and egregious overestimations, of the value of the settlement to the class keeping 27
28

1 in mind that Apple will actually be out far less money in payments to the class than the
2 fees awarded to class counsel. The only way to reliably calculate the actual value to the 3 settlement class in this case is thus to base the calculation on the number of actual,
4 successful reimbursement claims.
5

6 Under the foregoing, the attorney fee petition in this settlement is unreasonable
7 because the value of the settlement to the class is questionable. The settlement should not
8 receive final approval until the court has taken steps to remedy these valuation errors or 9 the Court should defer a ruling on the fee petition until the claims period ends and the 10 number of claims is known.
11

12 The amount of the proposed fees in relation to the alleged benefits to the class renders 13 the settlement unfair and unreasonable. The amount of the proposed attorneys' fee is an 14 integral element in determining whether the settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate.
15 The notice of settlement received by class members advises that class counsel will seek 16 5.9 million dollars plus expenses.
17

18 However, the fee request seeks lodestar multiplier of 2.1 according to the class
19 counsel and is clearly excessive and should be reduced given the benefits obtained for the 20 class.
21

22 Relief Requested

23 Wherefore, Objector prays that the Court deny the proposed settlement, deny the 24 requested fees to Class Counsel and grant Objectors such other and further relief as to 25 which Objectors may be entitled.
26
27
28

Respectfully submitted,

Thomas L. Cox, Jr.
State Bar 04964400
THE COX FIRM
4934 Tremont
Dallas, Texas 75214
(469) 531-3313
tcox009@yahoo.com

ATTORNEY FOR OBJECTORS

CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

I hereby certify that a copy of the above and foregoing document has been served upon the following on the 13th day of June, 2012:

By FedEx to:

Clerk of the Court
United States District Court
Northern District of California
San Jose Division
280 South 1st Street
San Jose, CA 95113

And by Regular U.S. Mail and Facsimile Transmission to:

Rick Nelson
Class Member Relations
Robbins Geller Rudman & Dowd LLP
655 West Broadway, Suite 1900
San Diego, CA 92101
(619) 231-7423 (fax)

Penelope A. Preovolos
Morrison & Foerster LLP
425 Market Street
San Francisco, CA 94105-2482
(415) 268-7522 (fax)

Thomas L. Cox, Jr.